

The Typical Love Story That Usually More Romantic than

Twight™

R&B music is somehow popular in 1980s America's bars, at least in this timeline. Yes, I'm a time traveler from Project:χρόνος which I didn't even know its meaning. In fact, even my name was some kind of weird code but I would call myself 'Jack' anyways. My mission was pretty easy, 'take that girl who had Amnesia problem while in her action back to base' simple as that. As I remembered, we fell in love with each other more than 300 times, engaged 23 times, married 6 times and once we even had a child together, not include timeline that she died or lost. You would be baffled and think 'why I must know these information?', but trust me, I'm protagonist. The main reason which cause so much disaster is from the evil's creature thing, the hero who create more troubles than villains, who always messed the timelines named 'The FIh'. I'm in the bar just as usual, but then I heard the sound of the handbell again. I felt hopeful again because every time before the Satan's creature messed the timeline, I always give her a red rope and if she is close to me, I would heard the sound of handbell. And trust me, I really didn't copied this kind of plot from the Eastern country which believed in red string connection. Back to story, I tried to find her with my lovely 1965 Mustang [not sponsored]. Finally, I found her again at train station. When I tried to introduce myself with her, she not seemed to remember my name. So I must start our relationship all over again..., but who knows, this timeline I might get her back!, I might meet the person that can help me through this problem! But instead of that, let's have a pillow fight baby!!!

-End-

pillow fight is a slang from Shaman King, means suddenly cut story to the end because of out of budget the red string connection is the belief from east Asia, such as Japan, Korea, China